Day 49--104 Miles

A long day in the saddle ends with sleeping behind the bar, not so bad. Today was all on pavement which made the miles go by quicker but I don't need, want, to do another century. It was necessary for water and camping options and it showed me what I'm capable of but I would have slept just fine if it remained a mystery. Today was a hot and sunny one and did have some nice spots along the pavement to get cold drinks and apple pies. the horses and goats are always a welcome to the desert landscape. Really tired.
